

Born in Philadelphia, Gina Osbeck's family relocated to Atlantic County in 1987, an area that soon became home, and where she would remain to raise her own family. Married to now-retired Atlantic City Firefighter, Chris Osbeck, the two wanted nothing more than to raise their children in Linwood. They became residents in 2004, choosing a home only steps from the bike path, an ideal location for both school and recreation.

Gina graduated from Mainland Regional High School in 1991 before embarking on a career as an esthetician. Her work has spanned more than twenty years, and currently finds her as the Director of Aesthetics at Luminary Cosmetic Medicine. Much of her success in the field is the result of her hard-work, professionalism, and most importantly, her interpersonal skills. Gina is a people-person, and enjoys interacting with clients, friends, neighbors, and members of her beloved community.

Believing that community is an extension of family, both Gina and Chris have long been active in various roles throughout Linwood, something they have balanced while working and raising their children, Ella and Luke. Gina served as a member of the Linwood Education Foundation (LEF) for 9 years, which included the role of president for 4 consecutive years. During her tenure, the LEF awarded more than $200,000 in grants to Linwood schools, leading to the creation and expansion of countless programs and technologies for the benefit of the school district and its children. Additionally, Gina spent 4 years serving as a Sunday school teacher at the Margate Community Church, as well as a Linwood Panthers Cheer coach for 6 years. She is currently Vice President of the Mainland Performing Arts Parent Organization.

Elected to the Board of Education in 2020, Gina serves on both the Policy and Negotiations committees and embraces a role that allows her to continue to serve her community. Her children, Ella and Luke attend Mainland and Belhaven, respectively, and it is for them and all of Linwood's children that she hopes to continue to fulfill the rich history of exceptional education for which Linwood is known.
